

North Carolina

WILSON COUNTY

A part of the Research Triangle Region

Durham •
Raleigh •

A Well-Connected County

Wilson County is only an hour's drive to RDU International Airport, which means residents and businesses can access metropolitan areas easily. It's also home to almost one hundred manufacturers, a large agri-business presence, growing businesses, and an array of local attractions.

81,800+

Population

60 mins

Distance From RDU

9th

Metro in the US for
New Businesses by
Site Selection Magazine

+6% (87,939)

Projected Population
Increase (2030)

$174,900

Median Home
Price (Q4 2020)

To learn more about Wilson County contact Jennifer Lantz at jlantz@wilsonedc.com or Cindy Ingram at caingram@wilsonedc.com wilsonedc.com

North Carolina / Wilson County

Target Industries

 Automotive  Aerospace  Packaging  Life Sciences  Pharmaceuticals

Recent Growth

$648.2M
Investment

(FY2016-FY2020)

1,582
New Jobs

(FY2016-FY2020)

Major Employers

Now Truist

Life sciences is an industry that excels in Wilson County

Among the bio-pharma companies with major operations in the area are Fresenius Kabi, Merck, Purdue and Sandoz. Together they employ more than 1,000 workers.

Livability

Wilson offers a variety of neighborhoods from the historic district to new subdivisions in the suburbs. Want to live on a golf course, in a downtown loft or in the country surrounded by open fields? Wilson County has a neighborhood that will meet your needs. Perfectly situated along Interstate 95 just east of Raleigh and west of the Atlantic Ocean, Wilson's unique blend of life's modern amenities and old-fashioned charm create the ultimate in gracious living.